

Liberty Home 'Bake 'n Take' Party Slated

Torrance area housewives will be given a chance to bake ginger snaps for the whole family today at the Liberty Home Appliance Co., 1326 Sartori Ave. Scheduled as a "Bake 'n Take" party, today's cooking demonstration will be put on by Dorothy S. Huse, Norge appliance home economics counselor. All the materials will be furnished by the store, all the ladies have to do is do the baking, according to Liberty proprietor Milt Isbell.

Thompson to Receive Degree, Commission

Donald C. Thompson, 1731 W. 235th St., majoring in English at Washington and Jefferson College, will receive his Army reserve commission in the Transportation Corps Saturday in graduation ceremonies. President Boyd C. Patterson will officiate at the ceremony.

All housewives of the area are invited to try their cooking and baking skills by using the prepared mix on a new Norge 1955 range, Isbell said.

Once baked, the cookies will be gathered in gaily decorated paper bags supplied by the store for carrying them home to the family.

Today's baking party will be held from 10 a.m. until noon and from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Rice and rubber are Thailand's two principal export crops.

South Bay Homes Open New Office

South Bay Home Builders are celebrating six months of building activity in the local area with the opening of new offices at 16016 South Western Ave. this week.

Under the direction of R. C. "Bob" Grace, the local company is featuring two and three bedroom homes and duplexes, built according to Lucky Homes specifications.

Among the many home features which have won the greatest public acceptance are innovations in styling and interior arrangements, greater living and play areas and compact kitchens with snack bars.

Perhaps the best feature of the "Lucky" home plan, however, is a "built-in cost control" which allows purchase of a completed house, ready to be lived in, with or without the "extras," Grace says.

As pointed out by Grace, the average home buyer today who purchases a "package home deal" frequently is called upon to pay for many items which increase the purchase price.

"Under the Lucky home plan," Grace said, "the extras which classify as 'luxury items' are left to the option of the buyer."

"Present building activity has been increasing steadily since the firm began operations," Grace commented, "due not only to the high quality of homes offered but also due to the excellent financing now being obtained for the purchaser." At the present time model homes are open for public inspection at 103 West 122nd St. in Los Angeles, and at 1032 West Magnolia Ave. in Gardena.

Toastmaster Meeting Slated Next Tuesday

G. S. "Bill" Evans will be master of ceremonies at the meeting of the Toastmasters Club next Tuesday night at the Fish Shanty.

Members of the speech panel will include Scott Albright, of the National Supply Co.; Warren Jensen and Frank Gorbett, of the General Petroleum Corp.; and Paul Fisher, of the Northrop Aircraft Co.

12 Torrance Students Get USC Degrees

Twelve Torrance residents were among those receiving degrees from the University of Southern California at commencement exercises held last Saturday.

Receiving bachelor's degrees were Frank B. Fisher Jr., Philip G. MacHale, Christie J. Xanthi, and John A. Niemyer.

A master's degree in business education was awarded Kenneth M. Boulter, while master's degrees in education were conferred on Mrs. Betty J. Clemenger, Richard Brown Jr., William H. Jackson, Robert E. Patton, John W. Ryland, Howard R. Valentine, and George Gerbner.

Rogers Wins Drama Honor

For his performance as a 70-year-old man, Carl Rogers was named second best character actor in the Pacific Coast Drama Tournament held last week end in Santa Monica.

Rogers appeared in the Hampton Players production, "Day Before Yesterday," in the tournament. Four other plays were presented.

Directed by Mrs. Mary Woodson, the play featured several Torrance residents, including Bruce and Miriam Wilson, Dorothy Fumis, Dominica Hauser, and Dwight Miser.
